30 DAYS OF SCRIPTURE to strengthen your faith

KHCB

A Letter to the Reader

Dear Friend,

One of the greatest joys of my life is reminding people of this simple truth: God wants to be near to you.

He is not far off!

Through His Word, through His Spirit, and through the gift of His Son, He has already made the way for you to draw closer to Him and as you do, your faith will be strengthened day by day.

At KHCB, our calling is to serve as a spiritual companion in your walk with Christ. We believe that every moment of every day is an opportunity to grow deeper in your faith, to rest more securely in God's love, and to live with the assurance that He is with you. That's why, at KHCB, we often come back to two simple words: Draw Closer.

These words are more than a phrase to us. They're a daily invitation to live nearer to Christ and to grow stronger in faith. This 30-day journey through Scripture is one more way we hope to walk alongside you.

Each day, you'll read a verse from God's Word, reflect on a practical application point, and talk to the Lord about it in prayer.

My encouragement is that you take your time.

Linger with the verses. Let them sink into your heart. God has chosen these words to strengthen your trust in Him and to remind you that His promises never fail.

Whether you are in a season of joy or a season of hardship, I pray this guide helps you hear His voice a little more clearly and sense His presence a little more deeply.

And as you draw closer to Him, may your faith be rooted, strengthened, and refreshed by His everlasting love.

With gratitude in Christ,

Scott Krus

Day 1: God with Us

Matthew 1:23 (NASB)

“Behold, the virgin will conceive and give birth to a Son, and they shall name Him Immanuel,” which translated means, “God with us.”

A Point of Application

Jesus did not come to merely teach us how to live. He came to be with us. He stepped into our broken world and into human skin to be near. His name, Immanuel, is not just a title. It is a promise.

God with us means God with you. Right now. In the middle of your real life — in the quiet moments, the chaos, the heartbreak, and the healing. You may walk through seasons where you feel forgotten or overwhelmed, but Scripture reminds you again and again that His presence is not determined by your emotions. It is anchored in His character.

You do not have to earn His nearness or beg for it. He has already come. He is already here. That truth is steady enough to carry you through today.

A Moment of Prayer

Lord, thank You for being Immanuel. Help me to remember that Your presence is not just a comfort, it is a promise. When I feel alone, remind me that You are already near. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

God is with me right now.

Day 2: God So Loved the World

John 3:16 (NASB)

“For God so loved the world, that He gave His only Son, so that everyone who believes in Him will not perish, but have eternal life.”

A Point of Application

There is nothing casual about this verse. Every word is weighty with meaning. God loved, so He gave. Not what was convenient, but what was most costly — His only Son.

This kind of love is easy to hear about and hard to believe. Many of us live with a quiet fear that we’ve gone too far or failed one too many times. But John 3:16 silences that lie. The promise of eternal life is not based on your track record. It is based on God’s love and your belief in what Jesus has done.

To draw closer to God begins with remembering the gospel. You were not forgotten. You were not barely saved. You were fully loved and fully rescued by the One who gave everything for you.

A Moment of Prayer

Father, thank You for loving me so much that You gave Your Son. Help me believe that I am truly loved and that nothing I face today can separate me from Your promise of eternal life. In Jesus’ name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

God gave everything so I could live.

Day 3: Love is Patient, Love is Kind

1 Corinthians 13:4 (NASB)

Love is patient, love is kind, it is not jealous. Love does not brag, it is not arrogant.

A Point of Application

If we are honest, this kind of love is not easy. Patience takes time we don't always want to give. Kindness takes humility we don't always want to choose. But this is the love God shows to us, and it is the kind of love He calls us to grow into.

True love does not need to be the loudest voice in the room. It does not push to be first or demand to be noticed. It slows down when others are struggling. It speaks gently when tempers rise. It is not soft or passive, but strong and intentional.

As you reflect today, think about where you've been rushed or frustrated. Where might God be inviting you to slow down and love well? Patience and kindness are not small things. They are often the loudest evidence of God's love alive in you.

A Moment of Prayer

Lord, I want to love like You. Help me choose patience when I feel impatient and kindness when it feels inconvenient. Make me more like You in the way I respond to others today. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

Love shows up in patience and kindness.

Day 4: The Lord Is Good

Psalm 100:5 (NASB)

For the Lord is good; His mercy is everlasting,
And His faithfulness is to all generations.

A Point of Application

Some days we need to stop and remember the most basic truth about God: He is good. His goodness is not dependent on your circumstances, your feelings, or how well your day is going. His goodness is part of who He is. It does not change.

Psalm 100:5 gives us three powerful reminders. First, the Lord is good — always. Second, His mercy never runs out. It is not rationed or reduced based on your performance. And third, His faithfulness reaches far beyond your lifetime. He was faithful before you were born, and He will be faithful long after you are gone.

To draw closer to God, start with trust. When you believe that God is truly good, you stop holding Him at arm's length. You begin to rest in His care and trust His heart, even when you cannot see His hand.

A Moment of Prayer

Lord, You are good. Even when I forget, even when life feels hard, You are still good. Help me trust in Your mercy and remember that Your faithfulness will never run out. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

God is good, and He is faithful to every generation.

Day 5: Nothing Can Separate Us

Romans 8:38–39 (NASB)

For I am convinced that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor things present, nor things to come, nor powers, nor height, nor depth, nor any other created thing will be able to separate us from the love of God that is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

A Point of Application

Paul lists out every possible threat — life, death, angels, demons, today, tomorrow, heights, depths, everything created — and then silences them all with one glorious truth: nothing can separate you from the love of God in Christ Jesus.

This is not sentimental hope. It is deep conviction. It means that no matter what you face, you are held. God's love is not fragile. It does not let go in your weakness. It does not back away when you fail. In Christ, it holds fast through every storm.

When you feel distant from God, remember this: your closeness to Him is not about holding tightly enough. It is about trusting that He is already holding you. Drawing closer does not begin with striving. It begins with believing that His love is still secure.

A Moment of Prayer

Father, thank You that nothing can separate me from Your love. When I feel distant or overwhelmed, help me remember that You have never left me and never will. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

God's love is stronger than anything that comes against me.

Day 6: Abide in Me

John 15:4 (NASB)

Remain in Me, and I in you. Just as the branch cannot bear fruit of itself but must remain in the vine, so neither can you unless you remain in Me.

A Point of Application

Jesus doesn't say, "Try harder." He says, "Remain." That's not a call to performance. It's a call to connection. Like a branch cannot survive without the vine, we cannot thrive apart from our daily relationship with Christ.

Abiding is not complicated, but it is intentional. It means staying close. Turning your heart toward Him throughout the day. Letting His words shape your thoughts, and His presence steady your spirit. Fruitfulness in your life does not come from striving. It comes from staying.

If you feel spiritually dry or disconnected, don't try to fix it with more activity. Just start here: return to Him. Remain in Him. He promises that when you do, He remains in you.

A Moment of Prayer

Lord, help me to remain in You today. I don't want to try to live on my own strength. Keep me close to Your heart, and make me fruitful through Your presence. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

Staying close to Jesus is what produces lasting fruit.

Day 7: He Died for All

2 Corinthians 5:15 (NASB)

And He died for all, so that those who live would no longer live for themselves, but for Him who died and rose on their behalf.

A Point of Application

The cross is not just about forgiveness. It is about transformation. Jesus didn't just die to take away your sin. He died so you could live differently. No longer for yourself, but for Him.

That shift changes everything. Life is no longer about what you want most. It is about what brings Him glory. When you understand the cost of your salvation, it becomes a joy to give Him your plans, your priorities, and even your pain.

To draw closer to Christ is to live each day with that awareness: I belong to the One who died and rose for me. Every choice, every moment, every response becomes a chance to say, "This life is Yours."

A Moment of Prayer

Lord, You gave everything for me. Help me to live today not for myself, but for You. Show me what it means to follow You in every part of my life. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

My life belongs to the One who gave His life for me.

Day 8: Precious is Your Lovingkindness

Psalm 36:7 (NASB)

How precious is Your lovingkindness, God!
And the sons of mankind take refuge in the shadow of Your wings.

A Point of Application

God's lovingkindness is not just a comforting idea. It is a place of refuge. His mercy is not abstract or far away. It is the shelter your soul was made to rest in. The psalmist uses the picture of wings to describe God's care. Like a bird drawing her young close to protect them, God draws you close to Himself. When you feel weary, anxious, or afraid, you can take refuge in His lovingkindness.

This kind of closeness is not reserved for perfect people. It is for the broken, the burdened, the overwhelmed. You do not have to clean yourself up before you come. You just have to come.

A Moment of Prayer

Lord, Your kindness is a refuge to me. Thank You for drawing me close when I feel tired or overwhelmed. Help me run to You today and rest under the shelter of Your care. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

God's kindness is where I find my refuge.

Day 9: He Bore Our Sins

1 Peter 2:24 (NASB)

And He Himself brought our sins in His body up on the cross, so that we might die to sin and live for righteousness. By His wounds you were healed.

A Point of Application

There is nothing more personal or more powerful than this: Jesus carried your sins in His body. He didn't just die for humanity in general. He died for you. He bore your failures, your shame, your brokenness, and every wrong you have ever done.

The cross is where justice and mercy meet. Jesus took the punishment we deserved so that we could walk in freedom. His wounds brought healing. His death brought life. His sacrifice did not just erase your past. It gave you a new future.

You are no longer defined by your mistakes. You are not stuck in cycles you cannot break. Because of Christ, you can die to sin and live for righteousness.

Today is not just another day to survive. It is a day to walk in the healing and purpose Jesus secured for you.

A Moment of Prayer

Lord, thank You for taking my place on the cross. Thank You for bearing my sin and offering me life. Teach me how to live for righteousness today, not out of guilt, but out of gratitude. In your name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

Jesus carried my sin so I could walk in freedom.

Day 10: From Death to Life

John 5:24 (NASB)

Truly, truly, I say to you, the one who hears My word, and believes Him who sent Me, has eternal life, and does not come into judgment, but has passed out of death into life.

A Point of Application

Jesus says something incredible in this verse. Eternal life is not just something you get later. It begins the moment you believe. You are not waiting to be rescued. You already have been.

If you belong to Christ, you have passed out of death into life. You are no longer under judgment. You are no longer defined by sin. This is not just a change in your future. It is a change in your identity.

So much of our stress and fear comes from forgetting this truth. We live like we are still trying to earn something that has already been given. But Jesus makes it clear. If you have heard His word and believed, the work is finished.

You can live today with confidence, not because you are perfect, but because Jesus is.

A Moment of Prayer

God, thank You that I have passed from death to life. Help me live like someone who is already secure in You. Let Your truth replace my fear today. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

I already have eternal life through Christ.

Day 11: Love Does Not Seek Its Own

1 Corinthians 13:5–6 (NASB)

Love is not provoked, does not keep an account of a wrong suffered, it does not rejoice in unrighteousness, but rejoices with the truth.

A Point of Application

The love of God is not defensive or self-centered. It does not hold grudges or take pleasure in wrongdoing. It does not look for revenge. It looks for redemption.

These verses are both beautiful and convicting. Real love means letting go of the right to be right. It means choosing forgiveness over keeping score. It means rejoicing not when someone fails, but when truth and healing win.

This kind of love is impossible in our own strength. But as we draw closer to Jesus, His love begins to shape how we treat others. What once seemed out of reach becomes a quiet miracle at work in our hearts.

Take a moment today and ask the Lord if there is anything you are holding onto.

Maybe a wound. Maybe a resentment. Maybe a place where you have not rejoiced in what is true. He can help you let go and love well.

A Moment of Prayer

Father, show me where I am still holding onto offense or keeping score. Help me love the way You love. Teach me to forgive and to rejoice in what is right and good. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

Love keeps no record of wrongs.

Day 12: Everlasting Love

Jeremiah 31:3 (NASB)

The Lord appeared to him long ago, saying,
“I have loved you with an everlasting love;
Therefore I have drawn you out with kindness.”

A Point of Application

God’s love for you did not begin the day you started following Him. It did not begin when you got things figured out. It has always been. It is everlasting.

This is not like any other love you have known. Human love, even when it is sincere, can fade or falter. But God’s love is not built on emotions. It is built on covenant. His love draws us, even when we are running. It reaches for us with kindness, not condemnation.

That means you do not have to earn closeness with God. You are already invited into it. He is not holding you at a distance. He is drawing you near with a love that has no end.

When you feel like giving up, or when you feel like you have failed Him too many times, remember this verse. He is not done with you. He has loved you all along.

A Moment of Prayer

God, thank You for loving me with an everlasting love. I do not deserve it, but I receive it. Help me to stop running and let You draw me near. In Jesus’ name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

God’s love for me has no beginning and no end.

Day 13: Greater Love

John 15:13 (NASB)

Greater love has no one than this,
that a person will lay down his life for his friends.

A Point of Application

Jesus spoke these words just before He went to the cross. He did not just teach this kind of love. He lived it. He laid down His life willingly, not only for the world in general, but for those He called friends. That includes you.

Greater love is not measured by emotion. It is measured by sacrifice. Jesus loved you enough to die for you, knowing full well who you were, what you had done, and how often you would fall short. He laid down His life so you could be forgiven, healed, and made new.

This is the kind of love that changes us. When you know you are loved like that, you begin to live differently. You begin to lay down your own rights, your own pride, and your own comfort in order to love others well.

Jesus did not have to love you. He chose to. That is the kind of love worth drawing close to again and again.

A Moment of Prayer

Lord, thank You for laying down Your life for me. I can never repay You, but I want to live in a way that honors Your love. Teach me how to love others the way You love me. In your name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

Jesus laid down His life because He calls me His friend.

Day 14: Present Sufferings, Future Glory

Romans 8:18 (NASB)

For I consider that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory that is to be revealed to us.

A Point of Application

Suffering has a way of making us forget what is coming. It can shrink our view until all we can see is what hurts. But this verse offers a perspective that lifts our eyes. The pain you are walking through is real, but it is not the end of the story.

Paul was no stranger to hardship. He endured beatings, imprisonment, rejection, and deep loss. Yet he still said that the glory ahead far outweighs anything we experience here and now. That is not because suffering is small. It is because God's promises are greater.

When you draw closer to Christ in your suffering, you are reminded that He has already walked this path. He knows what it is to hurt. He also knows what is waiting on the other side.

You do not need to minimize your pain. But you can hold it in one hand while holding hope in the other. Glory is coming.

A Moment of Prayer

God, I am tired of hurting. But I trust that what You have planned is worth it. Help me lift my eyes today and remember that Your promises are stronger than my pain. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

My suffering is real, but God's glory is greater.

Day 15: Boast in Knowing the Lord

Jeremiah 9:24 (NASB)

But let the one who boasts, boast in this,
that he understands and knows Me,
that I am the Lord who exercises mercy, justice, and righteousness on the earth;
for I delight in these things, declares the Lord.

A Point of Application

We live in a world that celebrates personal achievement. We are told to boast in what we build, what we earn, or how much we know. But God turns that upside down. He says if you are going to boast, boast in knowing Him.

This kind of knowing is not about head knowledge. It is about relationship. It is about understanding His heart and aligning your life with what He values. God delights in mercy. He delights in justice. He delights in righteousness. And He wants those who know Him to reflect that delight.

Your identity is not in your résumé, your social standing, or even your ministry. It is in being someone who walks closely with God.

Let your joy today be found in this — you are known by the Lord, and you are learning to know Him more.

A Moment of Prayer

God, help me not to chase the approval of the world. Teach me what it means to truly know You and to delight in the things that matter to Your heart. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

The greatest thing in my life is knowing the Lord.

Day 16: I Am the Vine

John 15:5 (NASB)

I am the vine, you are the branches; the one who remains in Me, and I in him bears much fruit, for apart from Me you can do nothing.

A Point of Application

This verse is not just about dependence. It is about connection. Jesus wants us to see ourselves not as independent achievers, but as branches. A branch does not strive to bear fruit. It simply stays connected to the vine.

That connection is what makes everything else possible. You do not have to force growth in your spiritual life. You do not have to fake peace or joy. Those things flow from remaining in Christ.

Sometimes we get frustrated because we see little fruit, but we are not paying attention to the connection. We have been busy doing, but not abiding. We have been trying to produce results, but not receiving nourishment from the Source.

Draw close. Remain. Let the life of Christ flow freely into your thoughts, your relationships, and your responses. That is where fruit grows.

A Moment of Prayer

Lord, I cannot do anything of lasting value without You. Help me stay close today. Let my life bear fruit because it is rooted in You. In your name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

When I remain in Christ, He produces fruit in me.

Day 17: He Is Risen

Luke 24:6–7 (NASB)

“He is not here, but He has risen.

Remember how He spoke to you while He was still in Galilee, saying that the Son of Man must be handed over to sinful men, and be crucified, and on the third day rise from the dead.”

A Point of Application

The empty tomb changes everything. When the women went to the tomb, they were expecting to grieve. Instead, they encountered the greatest news the world has ever known. Jesus was not there. He had risen.

This was not a surprise to Him. He had said it would happen. But in their fear and sorrow, His words had slipped from their minds. The angel's message was a gentle reminder: remember what He told you.

We need the same reminder. When life feels dark, we forget what Jesus has already promised. But the resurrection is proof that He keeps His word. It is proof that sin and death do not get the final say.

Whatever tomb you are staring into today, remember this: He is not there. He is alive, and He is with you.

A Moment of Prayer

God, thank You for rising from the dead and keeping Your promise. Help me to live like the tomb is still empty and hope is still alive. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

Jesus is alive, and He always keeps His word.

Day 18: Eternal Life Through Belief

John 3:36 (NASB)

The one who believes in the Son has eternal life; but the one who does not obey the Son will not see life, but the wrath of God remains on him.

A Point of Application

Eternal life is not earned. It is not the reward for a life well lived. It is the result of believing in Jesus Christ, the Son of God.

This verse gives us both hope and warning. For the one who believes, there is assurance. Not “might have” or “could have,” but “has eternal life.” That is a present reality, not just a future promise. But for those who reject the Son, Scripture is equally clear. Life is not found apart from Him.

That makes Jesus not just important. It makes Him essential. He is the dividing line between death and life.

If you belong to Him, rest in the assurance of what He has given you. And let your gratitude for that eternal life stir a deeper obedience and a greater urgency to share Him with others.

A Moment of Prayer

God, thank You that by believing in You, I have eternal life. Keep me close to You, and help me to live today like someone who has already been rescued. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

Eternal life belongs to those who believe in the Son.

Day 19: Love Never Fails

1 Corinthians 13:7–8a (NASB)

Love bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things.
Love never fails.

A Point of Application

These are not just poetic words for weddings. They are the true description of how God loves and how He calls us to love in return.

Real love bears with people, even when it is hard. It believes the best, not out of naivety, but out of grace. It holds onto hope when things look impossible. It endures through disappointment, conflict, and pain.

And most of all, real love never fails. Not because it never hurts, but because it refuses to quit. This is the kind of love God shows to us every day. And through the Holy Spirit, it is the kind of love we are empowered to give to others.

If you feel like your love is running low today, you are not alone. Bring your weariness to the Lord and let His love fill you again. His love is stronger than what you are facing. And His love through you can keep bearing, believing, hoping, and enduring.

A Moment of Prayer

Father, my love sometimes feels weak. Help me to love with Your strength today. Fill me with the kind of love that keeps going, even when it is hard. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

God's love never fails, and His love in me can endure anything.

Day 20: The Lord's Mercy Is Forever

Psalm 103:17 (NASB)

But the mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting
for those who fear Him,
and His justice to the children's children.

A Point of Application

God's mercy is not momentary. It is not based on how well you are doing today. His mercy has always been, and it always will be. It stretches from everlasting to everlasting.

This is good news for those of us who fall short. Mercy means we do not get what we deserve. It means compassion instead of punishment. Restoration instead of rejection.

And this verse adds something even more beautiful. God's justice and mercy extend to the next generation. The way you walk with the Lord today can echo into your family, your community, and your future.

God is not just working in your life. He is working through it, across time and into eternity.

A Moment of Prayer

Lord, thank You for mercy that never runs out. Help me remember that Your grace is not just for today, but for all generations. Let my life reflect Your compassion. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

God's mercy covers my past, my present, and my future.

Day 21: The Spirit Helps Us Pray

Romans 8:26 (NASB)

Now in the same way the Spirit also helps our weakness; for we do not know what to pray for as we should, but the Spirit Himself intercedes for us with groanings too deep for words.

A Point of Application

Prayer is not about having the right words. It is about being connected to the One who already knows your heart.

There will be times when you do not know what to pray. You may feel overwhelmed, confused, or burdened by things you cannot even explain. In those moments, God does not step back. He steps in. His Spirit prays for you, perfectly and powerfully.

This means you are never alone when you pray. You are never left to figure it out on your own. The Spirit is your helper, your intercessor, and your comforter. He knows exactly what you need, even when you do not.

So take the pressure off. You do not have to have the perfect prayer. You only need to bring your heart to the One who understands it.

A Moment of Prayer

God, thank You for praying for me when I do not have the words. Help me trust that You are working even in my silence. Teach me how to pray with honesty and hope. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

The Spirit prays for me when I don't know how.

Day 22: Saved by Grace Through Faith

Ephesians 2:8–9 (NASB)

For by grace you have been saved through faith; and this is not of yourselves, it is the gift of God; not a result of works, so that no one may boast.

A Point of Application

This verse cuts straight through our pride and our shame. You are not saved by being good enough. You are not saved because you earned it or because you finally got your life together.

You are saved by grace. It is a gift.

That means you can stop striving to prove your worth. It also means you do not have to hide in fear of never being good enough. Grace is not given based on performance. It is given based on God's goodness.

Faith is how we receive that gift. We believe in what Jesus has done, not in what we can do. This kind of grace humbles the proud and lifts up the broken. It removes boasting and replaces it with worship.

Let that truth set you free today.

A Moment of Prayer

God, thank You for saving me by grace. I do not deserve it, but I believe it. Help me live today with confidence in Your gift, not in my performance. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

I am saved by grace, not by works.

Day 23: Abide in My Love

John 15:10 (NASB)

If you keep My commandments, you will remain in My love; just as I have kept My Father's commandments and remain in His love.

A Point of Application

Jesus does not separate love from obedience. To remain in His love is not just about feelings. It is about following. It is about trusting that His way is good, even when it is hard.

This kind of obedience is not about earning His love. It is the response to it. Jesus says, "I've shown you how to do this. I've obeyed My Father and remained in His love. Now walk with Me."

When you walk in His commands, you are not moving away from love. You are moving deeper into it. His instructions are not burdens. They are invitations.

If you feel distant from God, ask yourself gently: Am I still walking in His ways? Return to obedience, and you will find that His love has been there waiting all along.

A Moment of Prayer

Lord, thank You for showing me how to walk in love. Help me obey You today, not out of duty, but out of trust. I want to remain in Your love. In your name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

Obedience keeps me close to the heart of Christ.

Day 24: The Resurrection and the Life

John 11:25–26 (NASB)

Jesus said to her,

“I am the resurrection and the life; the one who believes in Me will live, even if he dies, and everyone who lives and believes in Me will never die. Do you believe this?”

A Point of Application

Jesus spoke these words to Martha in the middle of grief. Her brother Lazarus had died, and she was filled with sorrow and questions. Yet Jesus didn't offer a distant comfort. He offered Himself.

He didn't say, “I will bring resurrection.” He said, “I am the resurrection.” The life He offers is not just for someday. It begins now. If you believe in Him, death does not have the final say. Hope does.

This promise is for the moment you face loss, but it is also for the everyday moments where things feel lifeless — a broken relationship, a stagnant heart, a weary spirit. Jesus is the resurrection and the life for all of it.

Do you believe this? That question still stands. When you do, everything begins to change.

A Moment of Prayer

God, I believe that You are the resurrection and the life. Speak life into the places that feel hopeless in me today. Remind me that You have power over death and the final word over my story. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

Because Jesus lives, I live too.

Day 25: Heirs with Christ

Romans 8:16–17 (NASB)

The Spirit Himself testifies with our spirit that we are children of God, and if children, heirs also — heirs of God and fellow heirs with Christ, if indeed we suffer with Him so that we may also be glorified with Him.

A Point of Application

You are not just someone God tolerates. You are His child. And more than that, you are His heir.

That means you belong in His family. You have access to His promises. You are a recipient of His eternal inheritance. The Spirit Himself whispers that truth into your heart: you are His.

But this identity also comes with a path. We walk with Christ not just in the joy, but also in the suffering. Following Jesus will not always be easy. But the promise is clear — just as we share in His suffering, we will also share in His glory.

You are not just saved. You are sealed. You are not just invited. You are included. Let that truth shape your confidence today.

A Moment of Prayer

Father, thank You for calling me Your child. Help me walk today in the security of that identity. When life is hard, remind me that glory is coming and You are with me in the middle of it. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

I am a child of God and an heir with Christ

Day 26: Better Than Life

Psalm 63:3 (NASB)

Because Your favor is better than life,
My lips will praise You.

A Point of Application

What do you treasure most? What do you fear losing? For David, the answer was clear. God's love was better than anything life could offer — and better than life itself.

This is the kind of devotion that changes how we live. When God's love becomes our greatest treasure, everything else takes its rightful place. Success no longer defines us. Circumstances no longer control us. Fear no longer rules us.

David wrote these words in the wilderness, not from a place of comfort. He had lost position, safety, and connection. But he had not lost God. And that was enough.

If your life feels dry or disappointing right now, hold on to this truth: God's love has not changed. And His presence is still your greatest gift.

A Moment of Prayer

God, Your love is better than anything else I could chase. Teach me to treasure Your presence more than comfort and to praise You even in the wilderness. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

God's love is better than life itself.

Day 27: Trust in the Lord Forever

Isaiah 26:4 (NASB)

Trust in the Lord forever,
For in God the Lord, we have an everlasting Rock.

A Point of Application

Life shifts. People disappoint. Plans fall through. But God remains.

Isaiah calls us to trust, not for a season, but forever. Why? Because God is not a temporary solution. He is an everlasting Rock. Steady. Strong. Unshakable.

When everything around you feels unstable, you don't need to find a new foundation. You just need to return to the One who already is your foundation. Trusting Him forever does not mean we never doubt or fear. It means we keep coming back. We plant our feet again and again on what is true.

You may not know what is coming next. But you know the One who holds it. And He is a Rock you can stand on.

A Moment of Prayer

Lord, You are my Rock. When I am tempted to rely on my own strength or understanding, remind me that You alone are trustworthy. Help me trust You today and every day.

A Truth to Hold On To

God is my Rock, and I will trust Him forever.

Day 28: Everyone Who Believes

John 6:40 (NASB)

For this is the will of My Father, that everyone who sees the Son and believes in Him will have eternal life, and I Myself will raise him up on the last day.

A Point of Application

Sometimes we complicate what God has made clear. Jesus says that the will of the Father is this: that we believe in the Son. That belief leads to eternal life and resurrection.

This is the promise you can anchor your life to. Not that you will always understand everything. Not that you will never struggle. But that when you see Jesus for who He is and put your faith in Him, you are secure.

Eternal life is not just about quantity — living forever. It is also about quality — life in communion with God, starting now and lasting into eternity.

One day, Jesus will raise you up. That promise is sealed. No power can undo it. No circumstance can reverse it. And no mistake can erase it.

A Moment of Prayer

God, I believe in You. Thank You for the promise of eternal life. Keep my eyes on You today and remind me that the hope of resurrection is already mine. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

I believe in Jesus, and my future is secure.

Day 29: The Greatest Is Love

1 Corinthians 13:13 (NASB)

But now faith, hope, and love remain, these three;
but the greatest of these is love.

A Point of Application

Faith is powerful. Hope is essential. But Scripture says the greatest of all is love. Why? Because love is what makes faith real and hope visible.

God is love. And His love is not abstract or emotional only. It is active, strong, and sacrificial. The love of God is what saved us. And it is His love that shapes how we treat others.

In the end, the mark of maturity is not knowledge or performance. It is love. The greatest legacy you can leave is love.

Let that be your focus today. Not success. Not recognition. But love — real, Christ-shaped, Spirit-filled love that shows up in words, actions, and decisions.

A Moment of Prayer

God, thank You for loving me so deeply. Teach me to love others the way You have loved me. Let love lead me in everything I do today. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

Love is the greatest gift I can receive and give.

Day 30: More Than Conquerors

Romans 8:37 (NASB)

But in all these things we overwhelmingly conquer through Him who loved us.

A Point of Application

Life will try to tell you that you are defeated. That your struggles define you. That fear, failure, or weakness get the last word. But God says something very different.

You are more than a conqueror through Christ. That means you are not just surviving. You are overcoming. Not in your own strength, but through Him who loves you.

This does not mean every day feels like victory. Some days feel like loss. But the victory is not about feelings. It is about truth. Jesus has already won. And because you belong to Him, His victory is yours.

Walk in that truth today. Not with arrogance, but with quiet confidence. You are loved, you are held, and you are not fighting alone.

A Moment of Prayer

God, thank You for giving me victory through Your love. When I feel weak, remind me that I am more than a conqueror in You. Give me strength to stand firm today. In Jesus' name, Amen.

A Truth to Hold On To

In Christ, I am more than a conqueror.
